

HISTORY QUOTES:

History will have to record that the greatest tragedy of this period of social transition was not the strident clamour of the bad people, but the appalling silence of the good people. Martin Luther King Jr of this period of social transition was not the strident clamour of the bad people, but the appalling silence of the good people.

Martin Luther King Jr