

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

Many events have happened on January 10 throughout history, including:

- 1776: Thomas Paine published Common Sense, a pamphlet that helped spark the American Revolutionary War
- 1863: The world's first underground railway, the Metropolitan line, opened in London
- 1901: The US oil industry began
- 1920: The Treaty of Versailles officially ended World War I
- 1929: The first Adventures of Tintin comic book was published
- 1946: The first United Nations General Assembly opened
- 1985: Sir Clive Sinclair demonstrated the C5 electric car, which had a top speed of 15 mph
- 2013: Magnus Carlsen achieved the highest FIDE rating of all time in chess
- 2016: English singer-songwriter David Bowie died from liver cancer
- 2023: Prince Harry's book Spare was published, becoming the fastest-selling non-fiction book since records began

Some famous people born on January 10 include:

- Rod Stewart, English singer known for his raspy singing voice
- George Foreman, American boxer and one of the greatest heavyweight champions in boxing history
- Pat Benatar, American rock singer known for her hit songs "Heartbreaker" and "We Belong"
- Hrithik Roshan, Indian actor known for his romantic and action movies