

POEM OF THE WEEK

An Introduction

I am writing a series of poems based on and around the theme of time. There are currently seven; there will be more. Over the next months, I will publish these, one poem at a time. They are numbered (mostly for my reference); they can be read in any order.

RHYMIN' TIME (POEMS ABOUT TIME)

3.

UNITS OF TIME
(Seeking & needing a purpose)

Minutes
Composed of Seconds
Together compose
Hours
Of a day
A week
A month
A year

Year. Year. Year.

Minutes
Of a meeting
Need
A secretary
Or minute taker
Records what happened
Who did what? Who said what
Who decided what
Was it unanimous

Year. Year. Year.

Meetings
Take minutes
To take minutes
To record
What happened

It all

Takes time

Year. Year. Year.

Time made up
Of seconds composing minutes
Minutes composing hours
Hours composing a lifetime

Why is coming first Elevated, when a second
is the component of time?
and can not be bet

Ladies and gentlemen
Needing no introduction
The one, the only
THE BEATLES

Yeah. Yeah. Yeah!
